For On-Premise Laundry Management and Staff

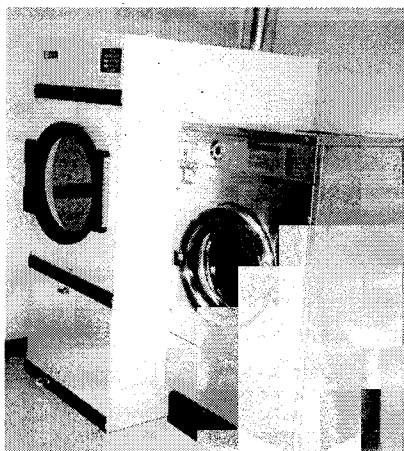

Maytag Washer and Dryer "Working Out" at Local Fitness Club

When Mark Miller, owner of Sneakers Fitness & Health Club in Germantown, was getting ready to open the doors of his new business, he called on Great Lakes Commercial Sales to equip the on-premise laundry facility he needed to keep up with multiple loads of laundry that would be done each day.

"I was aware of Great Lakes' location in Germantown, and was referred to them by a friend in the fitness industry," said Miller when asked how he learned about Great Lakes Commercial Sales.

A representative from Great Lakes helped Mark to decide what equipment would best meet his needs and offer the highest quality at the best price.

When asked what the main factors were that influenced his decision to purchase Maytag laundry equipment, Mark answered, "I like to work with local business first for customer service reasons. Secondly, the right price for quality equipment and lastly, the timely and helpful sales people that worked on the project with us."

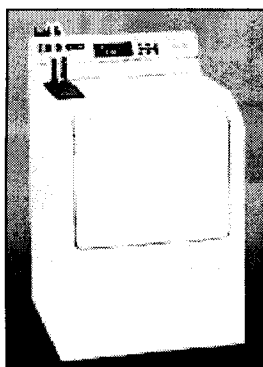

A Maytag 35lb washer and 50lb dryer do a "healthy" amount of laundry every day at Sneakers Health & Fitness Club.

Improve Your Laundry Service and Your Bottom Line

Imagine cost savings of up to 70%*! Now imagine gaining control over how and when you receive clean laundry. You can stop imagining these things because they can be a reality. And Great Lakes Commercial Sales can help you achieve them by assisting you in building an on-premise laundry facility.

From single-load washers and dryers to the largest equipment, whatever your laundry equipment requirements may be, you can depend on Great Lakes Commercial Sales.

Before equipment selection can take place, however, there are many important questions that need to be answered. Information relating to room specifications, flooring, drain service, electrical and water service and venting must be gathered. An on-site inspection of the location can help to collect accurate data.

After your facility is completed, Great Lakes Commercial Sales' in-house parts department and factory trained service technicians ensure that your operation keeps running smoothly and efficiently day after day.
